Evaluation Committee

To whom it may concern,

I hereby confirmed that it was I, Adrienne S. Phillips, a visiting scholar from America, who was in charge of review of the textbooks (《高职高专实用英语教程》) which was edited by Bowen Qin and published by Science Press.

This set of books is unique with the following features: interesting, practical, bridging, progressive and innovative. Each unit begins with interesting English stories stimulating students' interest and enthusiasm in learning. In the part of culture salon, students will be able to describe or introduce important traditional festivals in English after one year's study. In the language focus part, the study of grammar rules better achieve the effective link between middle school and college English teaching. In guiding writing part, each unit guides students to carry out writing exercises step by step from easy to difficult, focusing on a specific type of practical writing with strong practicability. This set of textbooks is different from the previous pure public English textbooks, its innovative feature is to add medical professional content in each unit, so that students can contact and understand medical professional English terms and related knowledge as soon as possible.

Best regards,

Adrienne Phillips
